Art Unit 1713

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Kobylivker et al., U.S. Patent 6,002,064.

This patent teaches medical adhesive articles which incorporate a substrate comprised of applicants' instantly claimed thermoplastic resin and silicic acid compound. See specifically column 2 lines 20+ as well as column 6 lines 58+ and column 8 lines 47+. In view of this disclosure, applicants' claims are seen to be not novel.

In the event that one of ordinary skill in the art would not immediately envisage applicants' instantly claimed invention, then the Examiner maintains that the invention is rendered prima facie obvious given that each of applicants' ingredients is shown within the prior art and clearly suggested to one of ordinary skill in the art that they be used in combination with one another and in the amounts as claimed. As such, applicants' claims are rendered prima facie obvious from this disclosure as well.
